UNDERGOING MAGIC!- THE SPARKLING WORLD

Fairies are the dream of every child. We all want to meet fairies at least once, right? but have you ever seen one? Certainly not. Never mind, you can just read what happened with Candy and see, or at least imagine how it feels to see a fairy. Candy claims it to be a very overwhelming experience, and you can also experience it!

I was a grown-up but a kiddish girl. I always used to be in dreamland. I thought that someday the beautiful fairy, wearing a clean, sparkling white dress, with a magical wand and a beautiful shiny crown will come to me along with a unicorn whose hair and tail would be colorful. People liked to avoid me because of my behavior, but who cares, my imagination is my ever-long partner. ( Do review if you like my positive attitude:)

Now, I used to go to the Down Valley park near my place every day, and also had an ice cream which keeps me alive. Actually, the shopkeeper is a magician( a magician who doesn't perform magics but makes ice creams instead. He had recognized me so well that he kept my favorite unique-orn ice cream at the same time, i.e. 5pm before I grabbed it with great happiness. Do you know what was unique about that ice cream?

- Its cones were colorful.
- It had 7 different flavors in every corner of it.
- It had colorful candies at the center ( just like me).
- It looked as if eating a galaxy.

And if you're worrying, then lemme tell you that I worked out enough after having the ice- cream.

So, I was having the ice cream, as usual, reading my favorite fairy tale. I was so obsessed with it that whenever I read it, I felt that I had a fairy really beside me. I closed my eyes with colorful surprises, shimmer and a bit of tear in some corner of it. I felt someone patting me. Oh! Was it a dream, I opened my eyes, and there was..... there was..... there was no one! I sighed as I was lowering my eyes to continue reading when I saw someone!!!!!! YES.

Was I daydreaming again? Possibly. I got up and approached the beautiful lady looking just like the fairy explained earlier. I went to her and pinched myself to believe my eyes and she was it, she was standing in front of me! I told her that she was beautiful and left because I knew that she's a human dressed as a fairy. As I turned around, I saw her sitting on the bench where I left my book. I was curiously shocked! Still, I went to the bench and started reading. She asked my name, and I replied, she started laughing, not as in making fun but loving my name-

CANDY!

Being a bit scared, I asked her how she could change her position within a second! She answered- " I am a fairy". I wanted to believe her but said-" Please stop kidding me". She answers-" People want me only in their childhood when their Minds are clean. But as they grow up, they crowd their mind up with stress and anxiety to forget that when the Almighty wants, there's no logic, only magic. And I know you still believe in magic, but magic is not imaginary, it happens in reality. I hope you'll aware the people to forget the stress when nothing can be done. Taking stress will change nothing, so just leave it on the almighty, and maybe logically or magically, you'll be happy. Magics can change the world, it can make anyone happy, and the person who believes in magic will himself see the magic happen around him. Magics do exist but only when people believe in them. Magic doesn't mean flying people or walking snowmen, but something that boosts you, some vibes that are so positive which can make you happy from top to bottom. Magic makes the negative areas blank and the positive areas are obviously evergreen."

Her words lit my eyes. I was left fascinated. I just wanted to clap when she vanished. Still, I hope that not only me but you too will understand what magic means .
